

The above photograph, taken on October 25, 1999, shows the television studio used for Public Access productions located at 900 Michigan Avenue, NE.

The above photograph, taken on October 25, 1999, shows a view of the rear area of the television studio used for Public Access productions located at 900 Michigan Avenue, NE.

The above photograph, taken on October 25, 1999, shows the video monitor in use at the television studio used for Public Access productions located at 900 Michigan Avenue, NE.

The above photograph, taken on October 25, 1999, shows the control board used to control the intensity of the scene lighting at the television studio used for Public Access productions located at 900 Michigan Avenue, NE.

The above photograph, taken on October 25, 1999, shows the control room at the television studio facility used for Public Access productions located at 900 Michigan Avenue, NE. Equipment shown includes: video monitors, video tape recorders, audio control console, video production switcher, audio tape recorder, a video waveform monitor and a vectorscope.

The above photograph, taken on October 25, 1999, shows a closer view of some equipment in the control room at the television studio facility used for Public Access productions located at 900 Michigan Avenue, NE. Equipment shown includes: a video tape recorder, audio control console, video production switcher, a video waveform monitor and a vectorscope.

The above photograph, taken on October 25, 1999, shows a view of the prop storage area at the television studio facility used for Public Access productions located at 900 Michigan Avenue, NE.